

Full Stack Software Developer

Company Overview

Innate.ly is a fast growing software company with a focus on building platform-as-a-service products for enterprise clients with complex business needs. Our team of professionals builds solutions that support smoother, more efficient workflow processes which enable our clients to save both time and money to better serve their customers. We are ramping up rapidly and are bringing on enthusiastic individuals with a strong work ethic who want to be a part of scaling a tech company. If you're looking to work closely with a team that is dynamic and results-driven, then keep reading about how you can be a part of our team.

About the Position

We're hiring an experienced Full Stack Developer with experience in Angular or other modern frameworks to join our development team. This position will:

- Build on and enhance our SaaS offering & serve as a technical subject matter expert on the innate.ly platform
- Work with project/account managers in root causing & creating solutions for issues
- Interface with customers to understand business use cases
- Contribute to architectural & design decisions
- Improve system quality by building for automated and unit test to ensure code performs correctly
- Share knowledge across the team by promoting best practices and communicating learnings

Qualifications

- Strong communication, interpersonal, verbal and writing skills with an ability to communicate both internally and externally with executive level clients
- Excellent time management & organizational skills with an ability to multitask and desire to work in a fast-paced environment
- Leader with creative problem solving skills who is able to research & implement new solutions
- Ability to work with customers & key stakeholders to understand requirements and strategy
- Operate with a sense of urgency and strong attention to detail

Education & Experience

- Bachelor's Degree and 2+ years full stack experience
- 2+ years NoSQL experience
- Proficiency in Microsoft Office, G-Suite & JIRA

Preferred Experience

- BSEE, BSCS, BSCE or higher
- Angular
- AWS
- NodeJS
- MongoDB
- ElasticSearch/ELK stack
- Writing & managing unit tests
- Experience building & maintaining APIs

About Innate.ly

Innate.ly provides high-end enterprise registry and performance tracking applications for world-class clients in the equine space, delivering solutions that streamline and revolutionize the horse show and racing industries. Founded in 2014, Innate.ly specializes in delivering client-focused solutions coupled with white-glove support. Learn more about us at <https://innate.ly>.